Community Nurse Made Nearly Three Hundred Visits

The committee on Charities of the Board of Trade received the report of the work done by the community nurse, Mrs. Jeannette Kelly, and submit the same to the public for consideration. A full months' work will not be completed until August 6th, and many calls and much service will be accomplished in that time not reported in this record.

A complete record of all work done, street, number, name of family, diseases, treatment, results and all other essential information is filed with the chairman of the charities committee. A synopsis of this report reveals that 272 calls were made during the month of July. Those ministered unto were strictly among the poor, where assitance was most needy. There were no contagious diseases, for which Monessen should be grateful. The number of babies suffering from summer complaints" numbered twenty, and all have responded to the scientific treatment, and most are so improved that their complete recovery is expected. Without the skill of the "nurse" who taught mothers how to feed their little ones, to bathe and care for them, it is possible that most of them would have died. Only one family received groceries from the "Board of Charities" and this was a widow with six children.

Mrs. Kelly has accomplished wonders by enlisting the grown children in many unsightly localities, to clean up the surrounding premises. Tin cans and other familiar rubbish has been gathered up in piles and then hauled away by respetive real estate men. Some places where the accumulated filth has bee gatherd in one spot, has not yet ben disposed of, but will be in a few days.

The Board of Heath has found in Mrs. Kelly a most vauable aid in her asistance by informig and directing many families in crrying out the will of said board.

Not only has the nurse given her attention to the children of the community, responding o every call of the local physicians, ut she has busied herself with may grown patients. Some have been sent to the hospitals, some have a part recovered from their malades, while others are still under her witchful care. The need of the service of a good community nurse can only be appreciated when we think of the many urgent calls upon her service, and the result of such service in relieving suffering and prolonging life.

A few dollars will save a promising child for future citizenship and usefulness. The Board of Charities appreciates the response of the Monessen public, but it may be possible that many have not yet responded with their offering for this needy work. All money should be paid to A. Tanzer of the Monessen Savings & Trust Co. The Board asks for a generous response at this present time as money is needed to carry on the work of helping the suffering, feeding hungry orphans and ministering unto many little children, who need the tender touch and watchful care of a trained nurse to restore them to health and strength.

Aged Man Found Dead In Buggy

Sitting upright in a buggy at the barn of Sam Kelly back of Belle Vernon, Gordon Martin, aged 60 years, was found dead at an early hour this morning, and Deputy Coroner Dr. H. W. Day was notified. He made an investigation at once and found that death was due to alcoholism and old age.

Yesterday John Arnold and Gordon Martin, who are employed as drivers on the construction of state roads, hired a horse and buggy to make a trip to Donora. They did not return until 11 o'clock at night and after unhitching the horse, Arnold attempted to get Martin out of the buggy to go to the home of Sam Kelly, where he boarded. The old man was evidently too intoxicated to move and Arnold left him and his dead body was discovered this morning. A brother, Giles Martin, took charge of the remains and will have them shipped to his home at Elizabeth.

Hunting Fugitive

The police are hunting a colored man by the name of O. Butler who struck a fellow workman with a die at the Pittsburgh Steel plant last evening. The colored man became angered at a foreigner who dumped a load of rods on the floor and he struck him along the side. The foreigner fell to the floor unconscious, and the negro thinking he had killed him, fled, and as yet has not been found. The injured man regained consciousness in a few minutes and his wound is only slight.

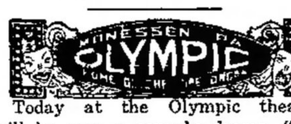
Continued Activity In Police Court

Quite an audience was present at police court this morning as the word had gone round that there had been "something doing" among the Castle Garden residents. The participants, Lottie Bulit, Dora Gibson and Charles Fisher were on hand for the hearing and did not reveal any secrets of the vicinity. Lottie was charged with getting drunk and wanting to whip Dora, but Charles came to the rescue and after slapping Lottie, locked her in an upstairs room. Lottie jumped to the ground below and sprained her ankle. She called the police and all three were given a ride in the patrol. The Burgess discharged them at the hearing this morning.

Mrs. Albert Viscenti's servant girl burned garbage in the rear of her home at 1041 Schoonmaker avenue and Mrs. Viscenti was compelled to pay a fine of $3.00. Steve Geio received his pay yesterday and like a good citizen went to the Tax Collector's office and paid his school tax. With the change he got drunk and was later arrested. He was discharged. (A good tip to any one contemplating going on a spree, pay your taxes in advance.)

Emil Gockla got drunk, broke a bottle on the streets and was arrested. He must pay a fine of $4.00 or work on the streets for two days. L. Smith failed to show up and forfeited $5.00. He was drunk. John L. Smith, a cripple, was drunk yesterday and began begging. He was arested and at the hearing this morning was told to "shake the dust" of Monessen from his feet.



Today at the Olympic theatre, will be seen a comedy drama, "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," featuring Max Figman, the great Broadway star, supported by Miss Lolita Robertson, in five parts. This picture and the one coming Friday, Aug. 6, "The Great Diamond Robbery" must be seen by everyone in the valley. They are of the highest class and guaranteed to please everyone. 1t

But listen—On the top of the great picture at the Olympic today, two of Charles Chaplin's comedies, each one a different act. And then on the top of all, the best imitator in America of Charles Chaplin is here today, promenading on the streets. You see he came to visit his home, the Olympic. 1t

Preliminary Hearing Given Negro Suspected Of Murder

Charles Douglass, the negro who is accused of having murdered Joseph Smith near Monessen, Sunday, June 20, was held for trial in court following a hearing before Squire J. Q. morning. A string of evidence both circumstantial and physical, has been unearthed and it may be hard for attorneys to save Douglass from the electric chair.

Sergeant T. J. McLaughlin of Troop A, was the only witness that appeared against Douglass. The officer told of having visited a pool room in Monessen where Douglass is said to have spent his nights. He then visited a pawn broker who told of selling a negro a revolver on the evening of June 19. He then found a man who claimed Douglass had held him up and took $3 from his pockets. The sergeant found a bloody coat in the Smith shanty.

From town to town and village to village, Sergeant McLaughlin traveled. Finally Douglass was located at Fairmont, W. Va., where after a hard fight with a constable, he was arrested. Mrs. Smith was taken to Fairmont and identified Douglas as the man who visited their home, demanded money and shot her husband to death.

Douglas bears a scar on his back. This, it is claimed, was made by Mrs. Smith with an axe. Douglass claimed the wound was from a barbed wire fence. Dr. John Croushore, the jail physician, stated the wound was not more than two months old.

The negro declared he was innocent of the crime, knows nothing about it and that he never harmed a person in his life Douglass admitted however, it is said that he was released from the Western penitentiary June 7, after serving three years for assault with intent.

A special worker for the young people will have charge of the young dren's work and especial work will be carried out for them. Mission work will also receive attention and a meeting for the purpose of discussion of the work will be held.

Already quite a number of the cottages on the grounds have been opened.

—George Kline wil go to the Presbyterian hospital, Pittsburgh, today, to undergo an operation.

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D. LL. D., Commissioner of Health

CAMP SANITATION.

Every fisherman, the hunter and lover of nature, who turns to camp life should constitute himself a health officer for his own protection and comfort.

There are certain niceties of camp life which an experienced woodsman does not neglect, but the city bred amatuer who is used to the daily collection of garbage and open plumbing seems apt to lack sufficient ingenuity to properly provise means to make up for the lack of these essentials.

Cooking and eating out of doors is an attraction if the process is not acompanied by swarms of flies, and these are sure to appear if the wastes are not properly disposed of.

If your camp is near a stream, go far enough back to be sure that heavy rains will not wash refuse into the stream, burn or dig a pit for it. Cover all waste which goes into it with a sprinkling of chlorinated lime and the with a light covering of earth. This will insure a freedom from fly breeding and noisome odors in the hot weather.

Be careful of your water supply. If it from a stream and there are other camps or dwellings upon it, it is far wiser to boil all that is used for drinking and domestic purposes than to risk the possibility of typhoid fever. If a spring is used, care should be taken that it is not open to contamination from washings of refuse or other polutions.

If mosquitos abound, for the sake of comfort and as a protection against the possibility of malarial infection, screens or netting should be used if conditions will permit and if not, some anti-mosquito wash should be used such as oil of citronella. Spirits of camphor will destroy the pusion. By no means are all species of mosquitoes disease carriers but they are comfort destroyers.

These precautions are simple enough and if made a part of the regular routine of camp life they will afford a reasonable protection to the health of the occupants of the camp and may likewise serve to protect other pleasure seekers along the streams as well as the regular consumers of water for domestic use.

HARRISBURG WOMAN FINDS QUICK RELIEF

Mary Wheeler Gains in Weight After Taking Wonderful Remedy.

Mary Wheeler of 706 Green street, Harrisburg, Pa., for a long time was a victim of stomach disorders. She tried many treatments and found nothing that could help her.

At last she came upon Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and quickly found herself on the way to health. She wrote:

"I received your wonderful stomach remedy. I took it and it acted just as you said it would. I had suffered with my stomach for nearly a year and doctored all the time. The first dose of your treatment gave me relief. I feel like new. I had awful distress after eating and suffered from bloating and gas, but now I feel fine, am gaining in weight and can eat anything."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

The Record in Monessen Is a Unique One

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Monessen citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

H. R. Wilbur, 131 McKee avenue, Monessen, says: "I contracted a heavy cold which affected my kidneys. My back was sore and lame all the time and I had to have help to turn in bed. My whole body was like a board. I often had to have somebody dress me. Shooting pains darted through my body and I could not do my work. My body became bloated. The secretions were profuse in passage and contained sediment. I had dizzy spells and hot flashes, and I was miserable in every way. I doctored for years but didn't improve. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and two boxes practically cured me. Now and then I take Doan's Kidney Pills as a tonic, and give them credit for keeping me well."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wilbur had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TWELFTH STORY

PROLOGUE.

With wildly shrieking horn disturbing the very solitudes of the distant hills, and with pale and terror stricken chauffeur bending over the wheel, the limousine of David Powers, millionaire lumber king, tore through the granite gateway of his beautiful residence and dashed madly along the shrub-bordered driveway toward the marble porch.

Powers himself—tyrant boss of a thousand underfed workmen—was on the steps. Anxiety was betrayed by every line of his working features.

Perry Travis, his legal adviser, was with him, and as the machine came to a sudden stop before them, its grinding wheels sending up a shower of fine stone and gravel, Powers was seen to pause and turn an instant toward the younger man as if for support.

He had heard the piercing, clanking notes of the horn long before the machine was in sight. He knew the temper of his men. He realized that his affairs were approaching a crisis. And he was afraid—afraid with the pitiful fear which comes over strong men when they realize that the confronting danger is of their own creation.

With trembling limbs the chauffeur climbed from his seat and averted his fear distended eyes, as with unsteady hand he pointed to the broken window pane in the door of the handsome machine. The small round hole, with its pattern of radiating cracks, like a serried and shattered mirror, told its own story. Nothing but a bullet could have made a break like that.

Mastering his own emotion with supreme effort, Powers stepped toward the machine, and with firm hand—for his was a will of iron—he opened the door. From out of the luxurious interior he lifted the inert body of his beautiful daughter and pressed her to his bosom—a bosom that was racked and torn with partly stifled sobs.

Gently—gently as when she had been an infant some twenty years ago—he carried her into the house and tenderly—oh, so tenderly he placed her on a divan.

David Powers sank on one knee beside the cot, and then slowly his body seemed to shrivel and sag, much like a half-filled bag of meal, as with a complete surrender to grief he threw himself prone upon the floor and uttered the single word,

"Dead."

Travis stood silently beside the stricken father, unable to think or move. The young woman who lay there a victim to the wickedness that the tyranny of her father had stirred in the breasts of his workmen, had been his fiancee, and his sorrow was but little less than that of the agonized parent.

I.

David Powers was known as the man who never smiled during business hours. He was known as the man whose employees all feared him. He was known, too, as one of the most successful lumbermen in the business on the Pacific coast and all who knew him envied him. Stern, domineering, and with a genius for organization, he could get more work out of less men for smaller wages than any man in the state of California—that is, more than any man except one. And the man who excelled him as a driver of men, the man who could extract one more ounce of labor for one tithe less of wages was Jake Snyder, the chief foreman, pugnacious, hard as nails, flinty-hearted and entirely without sentiment.

Jake made an ideal driver for so exacting a boss as Powers. Watch him now on this morning several weeks before the shooting of Laura Powers. Watch him as he talks among the men there on the dock and on the boat. Note the feverish anxiety with which the men bend to their tasks when he glowers in their direction.

Powers had just driven up to his office in his high-powered six and had sent to Jake.

The millionaire was looking over the market column of the morning paper when his foreman entered and he never lifted his eyes from the absorbing sheet until the field commander had drawn his chair up close to his employer's desk.

There was no word of greeting between the men.

Pointing a pudgy finger first at the newspaper and then at the nose of his foreman, the millionaire spoke tersely and harshly:

"Lumber's high in the East, Jake. Drive your men to the limit and get that shipment east while prices hold up."

There was a grim cruelty in Jake's eyes and just a tinge of a smile on his firm, thin lips as he answered: "They're pretty near the limit now, but I guess we can speed 'em up a bit."

The ugly smile was still on Jake's face when he left the private office and on the steps of the building he paused for a moment, spat on his hands and squared his shoulders, as if enjoying the prospect of trouble that he scented.

And, like most of those who look for trouble, Snyder found it. He had hardly left the docks to answer Powers' summons when Karl Hurd, delicate of face and hardly strong enough for the work he had been forced to accept, staggered back, dropped the piece of lumber he was handling and almost sank to the ground from sheer weariness. Too much work and not enough food was slowly killing him, and only the thought of his wife and daughter gave him strength enough to keep up.

Several of his fellow laborers came towards him and offered to help him. They talked with discontent over conditions that forced them to submit to the treatment that Jake and Powers meted out.

At a low warning shout from one of their number, all jumped to their places and were busy at work when Jake came around the corner of the nearest lumber pile—that is, all but Hurd.

"Here you, get to work and cut out that soldiering," yelled Snyder as he bounded across the low pile in Hurd's direction.

"Get to work now, not next week," he added as Hurd was slow in responding, emphasizing the words with a vicious kick.

Sudden, swift passion seized Hurd, and careless of all consequences—thoughtless as to what the future might hold for him—he lunged fiercely at his foreman, and struck him squarely between the eyes. His was the strength of desperation and the blow sent Jake reeling against the lumber pile.

The startled shout—half of amazement and half of approval—which greeted Hurd's action, as much as the sudden impact of doubled fist against human flesh, brought him quickly to his senses, and he stood for a moment staring at his dazed persecutor as the realization of what he had done was slowly impressing itself upon him.

Number Two.
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section. 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amend section eight, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenues in excess of the interest on said debt or debts, and the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking fund of their cancellation shall be established and maintained," so that it shall read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law, but any city, the debt of which on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, exceeded seven per centum of such assessed valuation, and has not since been reduced to less than such per centum, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation. The city of Philadelphia, upon the conditions hereinafter set forth, may increase its indebtedness to the extent of three per centum in excess of seven per centum upon such assessed valuation for the specific purpose of providing for all or any of the following purposes,—to wit: For the construction and improvement of subways, tunnels, railways, elevated railways, and other transit facilities; for the construction and improvement of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks, owned or to be owned by said city. Such increase, however, shall only be made with the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, to be held in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit, where the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue; the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual, current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount, so to be excluded or allowed as a credit, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness, for any one, or more of said purposes of construction, improvement, or reclamation, the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligation at maturity, the payments to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graded annual instalment. Such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges, as required by section ten of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of such work.

108 Prisoners Now In Jail

The monthly report of the county jail for the month of July was compiled and placed on record in the controller's office Monday morning by Warden James Nicholls. The report shows that on July 31, a total of 108 prisoners were confined to the jail, 104 being males and four females.

The total number of days' boarding furnished during the month was 3,107. Total amount of bills for food was $302.12, and the average cost per prisoner per day was 9.72 cents, figuring 3.24 cents per meal.

Bills for food and supplies amounted to $309.66, making average cost per day 9.97 cents. The total amount of bills and salaries was $771.32; average cost per prisoner per day being .248. Items of food were listed as follows: Cabbage, $6; potatoes, $36.85; onions, $1.10; meat, $32.63; bread, $172.78; groceries, $52.77; supplies, $6.63.

In July 1914 the average cost per day for each prisoner was 9.46 cents per day. Comparing these figures with the present month's figures it is readily seen that the cost of food has advanced but little In 1913 however, owing to a larger salary roll, the average cost per prisoner per day was $.3289.
